Preamble

This Code of Conduct (Code) was developed by the White Plains City School District's community and adopted by the Board of Education at its meeting on June 25, 2001 in response to the New York State Safe Schools Against Violence in Education Act (Project SAVE). It was last reviewed and amended at the June 14, 2021 Board of Education meeting.

The Code was developed around the belief that a dynamic educational environment is one that creates opportunities for the development of responsible and productive citizens. It is one where everyone is treated with respect and dignity and where decisions are based solely on what works best for students.

White Plains has had a long history of high expectations for acceptable behavior. This comprehensive document incorporates and expands upon many of the policies and programs that have been in use in the district for some time (e.g., character education, Positive Behavior Intervention Strategies (PBIS), peer mediation, social decision making, conflict resolution, and counseling). Current school building rules, regulations, and procedures will remain in effect unless specifically superseded by the Code. This Code of Conduct provides a legal and procedural framework for disciplinary decisions regarding inappropriate behavior or misconduct on school property, at school-sponsored events/activities, or off of school grounds, if the behavior or misconduct creates, or would foreseeably create, a risk of a substantial disruption within the school environment.

The Code of Conduct was designed around the following five core principles that govern its implementation:

Principle 1: A safe, and productive school environment is essential to learning.

The safety and welfare of our students, staff, and visitors will take priority over an individual's right to self-expression. While the district believes that an individual should have wide latitude for self-expression, limitations must be established in order to maintain a safe and productive learning environment.

Principle 2: Students, staff, and visitors are responsible for their own actions.

Making choices that contribute to a safe, respectful learning environment and assuming personal responsibility for those choices is a critical component of the teaching and learning process. Self-discipline awareness, and self-management is the objective.

Principle 3: Home/school partnerships are critical to student success.

Because parents/guardians should be active participants in all aspects of their child's education, meaningful communication and cooperation between the home and the school are essential to a proactive, collaborative approach to the implementation of any effective student discipline practice.

Principle 4: School rules and their implementation should be fair, just, and reflect an anti-bias mindset.

Consequences for code infractions, as well as the disciplinary procedures themselves, should be timely, fair, consistent, and impartial.

Principle 5: Progressive consequences and restorative justice provide opportunities for students to learn from their mistakes.

The first step in any disciplinary action should be to allow students to learn and grow from their mistake and to repair the damage done to either staff or students. Principle 6: Respect must be given for each person's unique needs.

While the rules apply to everyone, it is acknowledged that a student's special needs or circumstances must be considered when imposing disciplinary consequences.

I. Glossary of Terms

Students.

The term, "students," refers to individuals, prekindergarten through 21 years of age, who are residents or non-residents of the district and attend any one of the White Plains City School District's educational facilities or who are residents of the district assigned to an out-of-district placement by the school system. Non-resident pupils include those children who are tuition-paying pupils, the children of staff members who do not reside in White Plains, or children from other school districts assigned here through a special arrangement with the district's Special Education Department.

Progressive Consequences.

Progressive consequences use incremental interventions to address negative behavior, with the ultimate goal of teaching pro-social behavior. Progressive consequences are not intended to be punitive. Instead, progressive consequences are intended to promote concurrent accountability and behavioral change. The goal is to prevent a recurrence of negative behavior by helping students learn from their mistakes, beginning with redirection. Essential to the implementation of progressive consequences is helping students, who have engaged in unacceptable behavior, to:

- Understand why the behavior is unacceptable and the harm it has caused.
- Understand what they could have done differently in the same situation.
- Take responsibility for their action.

- Be given the opportunity to learn pro-social and/or problem-solving strategies, decision making skills, and methods of self-calming to use in the future.
- Understand the progression of more severe consequences if the behavior recurs.
- Repair the relationship between staff and/or other students if appropriate.

Disability. For the purposes of this document, the term “disability” means (a) a physical, mental or medical impairment resulting from anatomical, physiological, genetic or neurological conditions which prevents the exercise of typical bodily function or is demonstrable by medically accepted clinical or laboratory diagnostic techniques or (b) a record of such an impairment or (c) a condition regarded by others as such an impairment, provided, however, that in the context of employment, the term is limited to disabilities which, upon the provision of reasonable accommodations, do not prevent the individual from performing in a reasonable manner the activities involved in the job or occupation sought or held.

Student with a disability. For the purposes of this document, the phrase “student with a disability”, means a student who, because of mental, physical or emotional reasons can only receive appropriate educational opportunities from a program of special education. This phrase does not include a student whose educational needs are due primarily to unfamiliarity with the English language, environmental, cultural or economic factors.

Sexual orientation. For the purposes of this document, the term “sexual orientation,” means actual or perceived heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.

Gender. For the purposes of this document, the term “gender”, means actual or perceived sex and includes a person’s gender identity or expression. Gender identity is one’s self-conception as being male, female, non-binary and/or gender fluid as distinguished from actual biological sex or sex assigned at birth. Gender expression is the manner in which a person represents or expresses gender to others, often through behavior, clothing, hairstyles, activities, voice or mannerisms.

Harassment and Bullying. For the purposes of this document, the terms “harassment” and “bullying” means the creation of a hostile environment by conduct or by threats, intimidation or abuse including cyberbullying that (a) has or would have the effect of unreasonably and substantially interfering with a student’s educational performance, opportunities or benefits, or mental, emotional or physical well-being; or (b) reasonably causes or would reasonably be expected to cause a student to fear for his or her physical safety; or (c) reasonably causes or would reasonably be expected to cause physical injury or emotional harm to a student; or (d) occurs off school property and creates or would foreseeably create a risk of substantial disruption within the school environment, where it is foreseeable that the conduct, threats, intimidation or abuse might reach school property. Acts of harassment and bullying shall include, but not be limited to, those acts based on a person’s actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex. For the purposes of this definition the term “threats, intimidation or abuse” shall include verbal and non-verbal actions.

Cyberbullying. Cyberbullying shall mean harassment or bullying as defined above, including paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d), where such harassment or bullying occurs through any form of electronic communication.

Disruptive behavior. Disruptive behavior is behavior that makes the learning environment unsafe or inaccessible to others or who substantially interferes with the teacher’s authority over the classroom. Determination of substantial disruption or interference will be based upon the age of the student, the frequency, intensity, duration, age, cognitive functioning and impact of the behavior. Please see page 10 for an illustrative list of disruptive behaviors.

Violent behavior.

Violent behavior is behavior that endangers the safety, health, or welfare of a student or others as defined on pages 11-13.

Parents.

The term, “parents,” includes parents, guardians, or other persons in legal parental relation to a student.

School personnel.

For the purposes of this document, the term, “school personnel,” refers to individuals who are receiving compensation from the White Plains City School District, student teachers/interns, and under contract with the White Plains City School District or are employees of an entity under contract with the White Plains City School District to provide educational or related services to the White Plains City School District, its students or personnel (e.g., bus company employees and consultants).

Any individuals who are not students or school personnel and are lawfully on school property or attending a school function.

School property.

Any building, structure, athletic playing field, playground, parking lot or land contained within the real property boundary line of a district elementary or secondary school or any other district building. For the purposes of this document, a school bus is also considered school property.

School bus.

For purposes of this document, the term “school bus”, means every motor vehicle owned and operated by the White Plains City School District for the transportation of students, children of students, teachers and other persons acting in a supervisory capacity or privately owned and operated for compensation for the transportation of students, children of students, teachers and other persons acting in a supervisory capacity to or from school or school functions.

School function.

Any school-sponsored event or activity, whether on or off campus, during or after school hours.

II. Rights and Responsibilities

The White Plains City School District is committed to safeguarding the rights given to students, parents/guardians, and school personnel under State and Federal law and to promoting a safe, healthy, orderly, and civil school environment that ensures an appropriate education for all. Students, parents/guardians, and school personnel have the right to disclosure of all policies, rules, and procedures regarding expectations for behavior. They also have the right of due process.

No student shall be subjected to discrimination, harassment and/or bullying by employees or students on school property or at school functions based upon their actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex.

The following list of rights and responsibilities is by no means exhaustive. It is meant to highlight some of the principal expectations for each group.

A. Students

Students have a responsibility to attend school every day and to be familiar with and to adhere to district policies, rules, and regulations. In addition, they must comply with directions given by school personnel, accept responsibility for their actions, conduct themselves in a civil manner, contribute to maintaining a safe school environment that is conducive to learning, and behave respectfully, empathetically and adhering to the behavior expectations when on school property or at school-sponsored activities/events. All students have the right to be free from discrimination, harassment and/or bullying by employees or students on school property based upon their actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex. All students have the responsibility not to engage in discrimination, harassment and/or bullying on school property or at school functions based upon another person's actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex.

B. Parents/guardians

Parents/guardians have a responsibility to ensure that their children attend school regularly, and on time, and are prepared to participate and learn. They are expected to recognize that their child's education is a shared responsibility of themselves and the school, to cooperate with school personnel, and to convey to their children a positive attitude toward education and the high value they place on it. In addition, parents/guardians are expected to give their children an understanding of what positive behavior is: respect for adults and peers, courtesy, self-discipline and following the rules and expectations. Parents/guardians are responsible to ensure that their children are aware of and abide by all district policies, rules, and regulations. They are also expected to immediately inform the school of any danger or potentially dangerous situation they hear from their child or other children. They are further expected to discuss with their child(ren) the importance of mutual respect and dignity for their peers regardless of actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex. When on school property and/or attending a school function, parents/guardians are expected to adhere to all directives given by school personnel, abide by school policies and rules, conduct themselves in a civil and respectful manner and contribute to maintaining a safe school environment that is conducive to learning. In addition, when on school property and/or attending a school function, parents/guardians have a responsibility not to engage in discrimination, harassment and/or bullying of any student based upon their actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex.

C. School Personnel

School personnel have a responsibility to actively participate in upholding a safe school environment that is conducive to learning, to maintain a climate of mutual respect and dignity for all students regardless of actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex, to conduct themselves in a professional manner, and to be prepared to perform their job. They are expected to know school policies and rules and to enforce them in an anti-biased, impartial and consistent manner. They are also expected to communicate regularly with students and their parents. School personnel have the responsibility to confront issues of discrimination, harassment and/or bullying, address personal biases that may prevent equal treatment of all students, and to report incidents of discrimination, harassment and/or bullying that are witnessed or otherwise brought to an employee's attention.

D. Visitors

Visitors have a responsibility to participate in upholding a safe and orderly school environment that maintains a climate of respect and dignity while conducting themselves in an appropriate and civil manner. Visitors are expected to abide by school policies and rules, to comply with all directives given by school personnel and to immediately inform the school district of any dangerous or potentially dangerous situation. Visitors to the school have the responsibility not to engage in discrimination, harassment and/or bullying of students on school property or at school functions based upon their actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex.

E. Board of Education

The Board of Education has a responsibility to collaboratively establish policy so that schools will be safe and orderly learning environments, to approve the district's Code of Conduct, to ensure that the community is aware of the Code, and to review and update it every year for timeliness, fairness, and effectiveness. The Board of Education has the responsibility to maintain a climate of mutual respect and dignity for all students regardless of actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex. The Board of Education has the responsibility not to engage in the discrimination, harassment and/or bullying of students on school property or at school functions based upon his/her actual or perceived race, color, weight, national origin, ethnic group, religion, religious practice, disability, sexual orientation, gender or sex.

III. Dress Code

A. Students

All students are expected to dress for school and school-sponsored functions in a manner that adheres to the bullet points below. The district believes that to do otherwise takes away from the learning process. It is the responsibility of both parents and students to ensure that the student's dress (including jewelry) is aligned to the bullets below and does not materially and immediately disrupt or interfere with the educational process. A student should:

- Not wear items that are vulgar, obscene, libelous, or denigrate others.
- Not wear items that promote and/or endorse the use of alcohol, tobacco or illegal drugs and/or encourage other illegal or violent activities.
- Make sure that undergarments are completely covered with outer clothing.
- Not wear low-riding pants that expose undergarments and/or the upper part of the buttocks.
- Not wear hoods or items that cover the face and decrease the ability to recognize the student, except for a medical or religious purpose.

- Not wear garments that expose the midriff, the lower part of the buttocks and chest.
- Not wear sheer garments through which a student's chest, midriff, undergarments or buttocks are visible.

While some of these garments are inappropriate under this Code for older students, they might be appropriate for children in the prekindergarten or the early primary grades. In administering this Code, principals/directors (or their designee) will use their discretion in enforcing the policy in these early grades.

While these garments are inappropriate for wear during the school day, an exception may be made for school dances and proms by the individual school building.

Decisions regarding consequences for inappropriate attire should reflect the objective application of the Code of Conduct, regardless of gender and/or body type. Students may be required to modify their appearance by covering or removing the offending item and, if necessary or practical, replacing it with an acceptable item. Students who refuse to modify their dress or who repeatedly fail to comply with the dress code shall be subject to a range of disciplinary actions listed in Section V.

B. School Personnel

A dress code for employees is a mandatory subject of collective bargaining and, as such, may not be imposed upon unionized district personnel without negotiations.

Nevertheless, school personnel are responsible to ensure that their dress is safe and appropriate and does not disrupt or interfere with the educational process. They should not wear items that:

- Are vulgar, obscene, libelous, or denigrate others.
- Promote and/or endorse the use of alcohol, tobacco or illegal drugs and/or encourage other illegal or violent activities.

C. Visitors and Parents/Guardians

When on school property and/or attending a school function, it is the responsibility of all visitors and parents/guardians to ensure that their dress is safe and appropriate and does not disrupt or interfere with the educational process. They should not wear items that:

- Are vulgar, obscene, libelous, or denigrate others.
- Promote and/or endorse the use of alcohol, tobacco or illegal drugs and/or encourage other illegal or violent activities.

IV. Student Conduct

The White Plains City School District expects all students to conduct themselves in an appropriate and civil manner, with proper regard for the rights and welfare of other students, district personnel, and other members of the school community, as well as for the care of school facilities and equipment.

The best discipline leads to growth, takes into account student voice, is culturally responsive, may be restorative in nature and allows each day to be a fresh start for the student. Students must learn to assume and accept responsibility for their own behavior, as well as the consequences of their misbehavior. School personnel who interact with students are expected to use disciplinary action only when necessary and to place emphasis on the students' ability to grow in self-discipline.

The district recognizes the need to make its expectations for student conduct, both while on school property and while engaged in a school function, specific and clear. Students who do not adhere to conduct expectations will be provided a disciplinary consequence.

The district's three student behavior expectations are followed by a list of specific conduct that is expected and prohibited under each expectation.

The district will hold the identity of the reporter in confidence to the maximum extent possible.

B. By School Personnel

After receiving a report of an infraction of the Code of Conduct or a report of discrimination, harassment and/or bullying against any student all school personnel who are authorized to provide consequences are expected to investigate the situation, seek to understand any underlying reasons for the behavior and implement appropriate disciplinary consequences as necessary in a timely, fair, consistent, anti-biased and impartial manner. In addition, school personnel may work with support staff (i.e. School psychologists and social workers) to plan proactive strategies to support student growth, self-awareness, self-regulation and self-discipline. All school personnel who are witnesses to incidents of discrimination, harassment and/or bullying against any student by a student, by a District employee and/or by a visitor on school property or at a school function, are expected to report and investigate the situation and implement appropriate disciplinary consequence as necessary in a timely, fair, consistent and impartial manner. D. By Organizations Using School Property

Any organization that uses school property for an activity involving students must develop a set of procedures that are consistent with the Code of Conduct and must hold participating students to the same high behavioral expectations as the White Plains City School District. In addition, the organization must act in conformity with district procedures for reporting infractions of the Code of Conduct that constitutes a crime to the White Plains Police Department and for reporting incidents of discrimination, harassment and/or bullying by a student, by a District employee and/or by any other visitor on school property or at a school function to school personnel.

E. To Local Law Enforcement Agency

The principal/director (or designee) must notify the White Plains Police Department, our local law enforcement agency, by calling either 911 or the Youth Division of those code infractions that constitute a crime or are suspected to be a crime (assault, sex offenses, menacing, unlawful assembly, riot, arson, falsely reporting an incident, possession of a weapon, possession of a controlled substance, possession of any illegal drugs, criminal mischief, aggravated harassment, trespass, larceny, and robbery).

F. Discrimination, Bullying and/or Harassment

It is essential that all targets and persons with knowledge of incidents of discrimination, bullying and/or harassment report such behavior as soon as possible after the incident so that it may be effectively investigated and resolved. The White Plains City School District will promptly and equitably investigate all complaints, formal or informal, verbal or written. In order to assist investigators, individuals should document the incidents of discrimination, bullying and/or harassment as soon as it occurs and with as much detail as possible including: the nature of the incident(s); dates, times, places it has occurred; name of person(s) causing harm; witnesses to the incident(s); and the target's response to the incident. If, after appropriate investigation, the White Plains City School District finds that a student, an employee or a third party has violated the Code of Conduct, prompt corrective and possibly disciplinary action will be taken in accordance with this Code of Conduct, applicable collective bargaining agreements, district policy and State law.

VI. Student Disciplinary Infractions – Consequences, Procedures and Referrals

A. Introduction

It is expected that any infractions of the Code of Conduct be dealt with in a timely manner and in a way that is fair, impartial, anti-bias and consistent. The Code of Conduct is not intended to replace customary classroom management, regulations, and procedures already in place in the district.

In determining the appropriate disciplinary action, school personnel authorized to implement disciplinary consequences will consider the following:

- The student's age and grade level.
- The nature of the infraction and the circumstances which led to the infraction.
- Student input on the incident, their role and possible consequences.
- If applicable, the student's prior record of disciplinary consequences and the effectiveness of those consequences.
- Information from parents, teachers, and/or others, as appropriate.
- Other extenuating circumstances such as the emotional, physical, or mental state of the student or possible underlying reasons

Depending on the nature of the violation, it is the Board's desire that the consequences for student behavior are progressive (i.e., a student's first violation may merit a lighter consequence than subsequent violations). It is also the Board's desire that staff take into account all other relevant factors in determining an appropriate consequence. Based on the circumstances, it is at the discretion of school staff to determine the consequence warranted by a particular violation.

B. Parental Communication

In developing the Code of Conduct, the importance of strong communication between the school and the home was emphasized. It is the expectation of the district that school administrators will inform parents/guardians in a timely fashion about their children's infractions of the Code. It is also expected that the administrators will identify for parents/guardians those areas where their assistance is not only expected, but critically important.

C. Remedial Measures

In order to create and maintain a positive learning environment for all students, the White Plains City School District believes that certain remedies and procedures which focus on intervention and education should be utilized. Such remedial measures are designed to correct the problem behavior, prevent another occurrence of the behavior, and protect the target of the act(s). School personnel are authorized to provide for: peer support groups, corrective instruction and/or other relevant learning or service experiences; supportive intervention; behavioral assessments(s) and/or evaluation(s); behavioral management plans; and/or student counseling and parent/guardian conferences.

D. Consequences and Procedures

Students who are found to have violated the district's Code of Conduct may be subject to the following consequences and procedures, either alone or in combination. In general, consequences will be progressive, will focus on restorative practices and proactive strategies, will result in a decrease in a student's disciplinary referrals and will follow the continuum listed below. This means that, where appropriate, a student's first infraction will usually merit a lesser consequence than subsequent infractions. Each infraction of the Code of Conduct should be reviewed and evaluated through the lens of a fresh start. However, it must be understood that certain infractions may require more severe consequences due to the seriousness of the infractions. Unless the student's behavior poses an immediate threat to his/her safety or the safety of others, removal of a student from the learning environment should be instituted only when more moderate consequences have been ineffective.

The type of due process a student is entitled to receive depends on the consequence under consideration. In all cases, regardless of the consequence implemented, the school personnel authorized to implement the consequence must inform the student of the alleged misconduct and must investigate, to the extent necessary, the facts surrounding the alleged misconduct. All students will have an opportunity to present their version of the facts to the school personnel implementing the disciplinary consequence before the implementation of the consequence.

The following list of consequences and procedures includes, for moderate to more serious consequences, the due process rights accorded to students:

- Proactive Strategies. Proactive strategies are utilized within the classroom to support the development of positive and respectful behaviors. These strategies include but are not limited to clear behavioral expectations, Zones of Regulation, informal behavior plans, behavior contracts, check in and check outs with PPS staff.

Strong classroom management, relationships with students and engaging curriculum that allows for student voice and choice are the foundation of proactive positive behavioral supports. Logical Consequences. Logical consequences may be utilized as an alternative to removal from the learning environment.

- Oral warning. Any verbal correction or suggestion made to a student by school personnel during the course of the day on how to improve their behavior is considered an oral warning and does not require parental notification.
- Restorative Justice Practices. The use of restorative circles and restorative justice practices may be utilized as a consequence for infractions of the Code of Conduct. Some restorative justice practices may require the consent of the parents/guardians of the students involved or of the students themselves if they are 18 years of age or older.

Short-term “break” in classroom or in alternate setting. When an oral warning results in no appreciable change in a student’s behavior, the student may be asked to have a short time-out in the classroom or outside the room in a designated place. Parents will be notified if there is a repeated occurrence of breaks. Each classroom may set up a calm corner where students may go to self-regulate. Classroom breaks should be clearly defined with expectations and time limits. Students may be permitted to identify their own need for a break.

- Student sent to the office for a disciplinary conference. Depending upon the severity of the misconduct, a parent may be notified by either a phone call and/or a letter. When persistent disciplinary actions do not seem to work or are deemed inappropriate, counseling or peer mediation may be called for. A parent should be notified by either a phone call and/or a letter.
- Detention – during the school day or after (for example, during X-period). Detention may be used as a consequence for misconduct. Students who receive detention are sent by school personnel to an alternate location within the building. In the case of a detention during the school day, parents are notified in writing. After-school detention should be implemented as a consequence only after the student’s parent/guardian has been notified to confirm that there is no parental/guardian objection to the consequence and that the student has appropriate transportation home following detention if needed.
- Principal’s conference. This is a required meeting between the principal/director (or designee) and parent/guardian for a comprehensive review of the child’s behavioral and academic status. It is intended to be both a warning and a “problem solving” procedure by which all involved parties cooperatively develop a behavioral management plan to avoid more serious disciplinary action. It is designed to address, in a non-punitive fashion, the needs of students whose behaviors in school demonstrate a pattern of disruption.

- Teacher removal of students. Teachers may remove students demonstrating disruptive behavior from the classroom (see pages 11-12 of the Code of Conduct for descriptions of disruptive behaviors). This is not to be confused with suspension. Suspension is a consequence that only administrative personnel can implement.

A student's behavior that makes the learning environment unsafe or inaccessible to others or substantially interferes with the teacher's authority over the class shall be categorized as disruptive and can affect a teacher's ability to teach and can make it difficult for other students in the classroom to learn. In most instances, proactive classroom strategies can mitigate disruptive behavior. Proactive positive classroom management techniques that foster a safe, inclusive and respectful learning environment and that give the student an opportunity to regain composure and self-control may include, but are not limited to: short-term "break, sending a student to an administrator's room or to a " restorative space for the remainder of the class period only, or sending a student to a guidance counselor or other district staff member for counseling. These techniques do not constitute "a teacher removal" for the purposes of this Code of Conduct. Clear expectations and guidelines should be developed at the building level to ensure anti-biased application of student removal from the classroom. In addition, it is the expectation that teachers will have employed positive behavioral strategies, prior to utilizing the removal of a student from the classroom.

When a student's behavior creates an unsafe environment for the student or others or substantially interferes with the teacher's authority over the class, a teacher has the right to remove a student from the classroom for a period of time not to exceed two days. The two-day time period does not include the day of removal and applies only to the specific class of the removing teacher.

The teacher removal provision of this Code of Conduct is triggered when a teacher believes that a disruptive student must be removed from the classroom for more than one "instructional period." The length of the instructional period is determined by each building and cannot exceed one hour in a given day. The referring teacher is permitted to remove a disruptive student for no more than two consecutive "instructional periods." Any student removed from the classroom may fully participate in other "instructional periods" for the duration of the removal. If the behaviors of the student do not pose a continuous physical or emotional safety risk, proactive and restorative practices are recommended as an alternative to classroom removal.

A teacher may not use these provisions more than two times a semester with regard to the same student. If the student is a continuous disruption in class, administrative intervention and parental/guardian involvement is required. A teacher may not use these provisions for a student whose actions are defined as violent (see pages 12-13 of the Code of Conduct for descriptions of violent behaviors). A student demonstrating violent behavior is to be promptly referred for disciplinary action through administrative channels.

Once a teacher has determined that removal is warranted, the following provisions apply:

- Prior to removal, unless the student's behavior poses a continuing danger to persons or property or an ongoing threat of disruption to the academic process, the teacher must provide the student with an explanation as to why he or she is being removed and give the student an opportunity to explain their version of the relevant events. Staff needs to take into account the student's explanation and any circumstances that might lead to a restorative approach rather than classroom removal. When the student's behavior poses a continuing danger to persons or property or an ongoing threat of disruption to the academic process, the teacher must inform the student and school principal of the reason for the student's removal. The student is then to be sent to a restorative space in order to reregulate their behavior. This might include the need for a PPS person to facilitate both the regulation process and the process to return to the classroom. If the student requires extensive time out of the classroom, each building must determine how the student will access continued educational programming.
- The teacher must complete a district-established teacher removal form and meet with the principal/director (or designee) as soon as possible to explain the circumstances of the removal. If this is not completed by the next day, the student will be re-admitted to class.
- The principal must notify the student's parent/guardian in writing of the removal (by personal delivery or other means that is reasonably calculated to assure receipt of the notice within 24 hours of the removal). This notice must explain the reason(s) for the removal and inform the parent/guardian of his/her right to request to meet informally with the principal and the removing teacher to discuss the removal. Whenever possible, the parent/guardian should be notified by telephone of the removal. If at the informal meeting the student denies the disruptive behavior, the principal must explain why the student was removed and give the student with their parent/guardian present a chance to present their version of the relevant events. This meeting must be held within 48 hours of the student's removal unless extended by mutual consent of the parent/guardian and principal.

The principal/director (or designee) may overturn the removal of a student from class at any point between receiving the removal form from the teacher and the close of business on the day of the informal conference, if requested, for the following reasons:

- The student's behavior documented in the referral does rise not to the level of making the learning environment unsafe or inaccessible to others or substantially interfering with the teacher's authority over the class

- The principal finds the teacher's description of the student's behavior is not supported by substantial evidence.
- The student's removal is otherwise in violation of law, including the district's Code of Conduct.
- The conduct warrants suspension from school pursuant to Education Law and a suspension will be implemented by appropriate administrative personnel.

No students will be permitted to return to the "instructional period" from which they were removed until the principal/director (or designee) makes a final determination, or the period of removal expires, whichever occurs first. Prior to reentry into the classroom restorative practices may be utilized to repair the relationship between the student and the teacher.

Removal of a student with a disability, under certain circumstances, may constitute a change in the student's placement. Accordingly, no teacher may remove a student with a disability from class until that teacher has verified with the principal/director (or designee) or the chairperson of the Committee on Special Education that the removal will not violate the student's rights under State or Federal laws or regulations.

- Administrative probation. A student may be placed on probation at the discretion of the principal/director (or designee), with adherence to the Code of Conduct. During the period of probation, a student must adhere to specific behavioral expectations that are agreed upon and spelled out in a contract signed by the administrator, the student, and the parent/guardian. Probation is typically utilized in combination with other administrative disciplinary actions. The probation contract has a duration (e.g., the rest of the school year, the end of the semester) that is clearly spelled out as are the consequences for violating the probation contract. Administrative probation can occur separately from a suspension or as one of the disciplinary consequences as part of a suspension.
- Suspension from transportation. If a student does not follow the safety rules on the bus which compromises the safety of themselves or others, the bus driver is expected to bring such misconduct to the attention of the principal/director (or designee). Students whose behavior continues to put themselves and others at risk may have their riding privileges suspended. In such cases, the student's parent/guardian will become responsible for seeing that the child gets to and from school safely.

A student subjected to a suspension from transportation is not entitled to a full hearing pursuant to Education Law. The principal or Superintendent will notify the parent/guardian of the consequence and the student and the student's parent/guardian will be provided with a reasonable opportunity for an informal conference with the principal/director (or designee) to discuss the conduct and the recommended consequence.

- Suspension from athletic participation, social or extracurricular activities, or other privileges such as field trips and access to computers, computer network and internet. A student subjected to a suspension from athletic participation, social or extracurricular activities, or of other privileges, such as the use of computers, the district's computer network, and/or the district's internet service, is not entitled to a full hearing pursuant to Education Law. The student's loss of computer and internet access should only be implemented as a natural consequence to the district's acceptable use policy.

The principal will notify the parent/guardian of the consequence implemented, and the student and the student's parent/guardian will be provided with a reasonable opportunity for an informal conference with the principal/director (or designee) to discuss the conduct and the consequence implemented.

- In-school suspension. A student is placed in an alternate setting within their school building for a full day (or part of a day) and provided with instruction. A student subjected to an in-school suspension is not entitled to a full hearing pursuant to Education Law.

The principal will notify the parent/guardian of the consequence implemented, and the student and the student's parent/guardian will be provided with a reasonable opportunity for an informal conference with the principal/director (or designee) to discuss the conduct and the consequence implemented.

- Short-term out-of-school suspension (five days or less). When the Superintendent or principal proposes to suspend a student, the student must be immediately notified. If the student denies the misconduct, the administrator must provide an explanation of the basis for the proposed suspension. The administrator must also notify the student's parent/guardian in writing (by personal delivery or other means that is reasonably calculated to assure receipt of the notice within 24 hours of the decision) that the student is being suspended from school. Whenever possible, the parent/guardian should be notified by telephone.

The notice shall provide a description of the charges against the student and the incident for which suspension is proposed. It shall also inform the parent/guardian of the right to request an immediate informal conference with the principal. Both the notice and the informal conference shall be in the native language or mode of communication used by the parent/guardian. At the conference, the parent/guardian has the right to ask questions of complaining witnesses under such procedures as established by the principal.

The notice and opportunity for an informal conference shall take place before the student is suspended unless the student's presence in school poses a continuing danger to persons or property or an ongoing threat of disruption to the academic process. If the student's presence in school does pose such a danger or threat of disruption, the notice and opportunity for an informal conference shall take place as soon after the suspension as is reasonably practical.

After the conference, the principal may promptly advise the parent/guardian of their decision. The principal may advise the parent that if they are not satisfied with the decision and wish to pursue the matter, they must file a written appeal to the Superintendent within five business days, unless they can show good cause for the delay in doing so.

The Superintendent shall issue a written decision regarding the appeal within 10 business days of receiving the appeal. If the parent/guardian is not satisfied with the Superintendent's decision, they may file a written appeal to the Board of Education with the district clerk within 30 business days of the date of the Superintendent's decision unless the parent/guardian can show good cause for the delay in filing the appeal. The Board of Education will make its decision based upon the written appeal, the Superintendent's decision and any documentation referenced in the Superintendent's decision or relating to the out-of-school suspension at issue (including but not limited to the student's prior discipline record, the Principal's notice of charges). There will be no oral argument before the Board of Education concerning the appeal. The Board of Education may adopt in whole or in part the decision of the Superintendent. Only final decisions of the Board of Education may be appealed to the State Commissioner of Education within 30 days of the decision.

- Central Office Review. A Central Office Review is a meeting involving the Superintendent (or designee), the parent/guardian, the student and representatives of the school which may include building administrators, Pupil Services staff and teachers. The Central Office Review is intended to be both a warning and a "problem solving" procedure by which all involved parties strive to develop a plan to avoid more serious disciplinary action. It is designed to address, in a non-punitive fashion, the needs of students whose behaviors in school demonstrate a serious pattern of disruption.

One result of a Central Office Review could be the reassignment of the student to an alternate educational program if the parent/guardian is agreeable. If the Central Office Review does not result in a positive outcome, the district reserves the right to refer the matter for a Superintendent's Hearing.

- Long-term out-of-school suspension (more than five days). When the Superintendent or principal determines that a suspension for more than five days may be warranted, they shall give reasonable notice to the student and the student's parent/guardian of their right to a fair hearing called a Superintendent's Hearing. A hearing officer may be designated by the Superintendent to conduct the hearing and to make a recommendation to the Superintendent as to whether the student engaged in the behavior for which the further suspension is proposed and the appropriate measure of discipline for behavior in which the student engaged.

The student who is the subject of the hearing has the right to be represented by legal counsel, the right to question witnesses and offer evidence on their behalf. The hearing officer is authorized to administer oaths and to issue subpoenas in conjunction with the proceeding. A record of the hearing shall be maintained, but no stenographic transcript shall be required. A tape recording shall be deemed a satisfactory record. The report of the hearing officer shall be advisory only, and the Superintendent may accept all or any part thereof.

An appeal of the decision of the Superintendent may be made by the parent/guardian to the Board of Education in writing and submitted to the district clerk within 30 business days of the date of the Superintendent's decision, unless the parent/guardian can show good cause for the delay in filing the appeal. The Board of Education will make its decision based solely upon the written appeal, the Superintendent's decision and the record developed before the Superintendent or his designated hearing officer (which record includes but is not limited to the testimony provided at the hearing and the documents admitted into evidence at the hearing). There will be no oral argument before the Board of Education concerning the appeal. The Board of Education may adopt in whole or in part the decision of the Superintendent. Final decisions of the Board of Education may be appealed to the Commissioner of Education within 30 days of the decision.

- Permanent suspension from school. This consequence is implemented as a result of a Superintendent's Hearing. It is reserved for extraordinary circumstances such as those where a student's conduct poses a life-threatening danger to the safety and well-being of other students, school personnel, or any other person on school property or attending a school function.

- Alternate Instruction
When a student of any age is removed from class by a teacher or a student of compulsory attendance age is suspended from school pursuant to Education Law, the district will take immediate steps to provide alternate means of instruction for the student.

- Minimum Periods of Suspension
Following are the minimum periods of suspension for violations of the Code of Conduct:
 - Students who are repeatedly substantially disruptive of the educational process or who repeatedly impede classroom instruction shall be subject to suspension from school for a minimum of three days. For the purposes of this Code of Conduct, "repeatedly substantially disruptive" means engaging in conduct that ~~violates~~ does not meet Expectation 1 (listed on pages 11-12) on four or more occasions during a semester or three or more occasions during a trimester. The student and the student's parent/guardian will be given the same notice and opportunity for an informal conference given to all students subject to a short-term suspension (described previously on page 23). Prior to or in lieu of suspension, schools have the option of providing access to restorative practices.

The Principal or Superintendent has the authority to modify the minimum three-day suspension on a case-by-case basis. In deciding whether to modify the minimum suspension period, the Superintendent may consider the student's age, grade in school, and circumstances surrounding both prior and current discipline issues. The Superintendent's belief that other forms of discipline may be more effective, input from parents/guardians, teachers, and/or others, and other extenuating circumstances may also be taken into account.

A student with a disability may be suspended under this provision in accordance with the requirements of State and Federal law.

- Students who commit violent, unlawful, or other serious acts that violate the Code of Conduct shall be subject to suspension from school for a minimum of five days. For the purposes of this Code of Conduct, "violent, unlawful, or other serious acts" means engaging in conduct that does not meet Expectation 2 or Expectation 3 (listed on pages 12-15). The student and the student's parent/guardian will be given the same notice and opportunity for an informal conference given to all students subject to a short-term suspension (described previously on page 23).

The Superintendent has the authority to modify the minimum five-day suspension on a case-by-case basis. In deciding whether to modify the minimum suspension period, the Superintendent may consider the student's age, grade in school, and circumstances surrounding both prior and current discipline issues. The Superintendent's belief that other forms of discipline may be more effective, input from parents/guardians, teachers, and/or others, and other extenuating circumstances may also be taken into account.

A student with a disability may be suspended under this provision in accordance with the requirements of State and Federal law.

- Students who bring a weapon to school as defined under the federal Gun-Free Schools Act of 1994 shall be suspended for a minimum of one calendar year. Before being suspended for a year the student and the student's parent/guardian will be given the same notice and opportunity for a Superintendent's Hearing as given to all students subject to a long-term suspension (described previously on page 24).

The Superintendent has the authority to modify the one-year suspension on a case-by-case basis. In deciding whether to modify the minimum suspension period, the Superintendent may consider the student's age, grade in school, and circumstances surrounding both prior and current discipline issues. The Superintendent's belief that other forms of discipline may be more effective, input from parents/guardians, teachers, and/or others, and other extenuating circumstances may also be taken into account.

A student with a disability may be suspended under this provision in accordance with the requirements of State and Federal law.

The White Plains Police Department will be notified as warranted under the circumstances.

VII. Discipline of Students with Disabilities

It is recognized that it may be necessary to suspend, remove, or otherwise discipline students with disabilities to address disruptive, violent, or other inappropriate behavior. Furthermore, it is important to note that students with disabilities are entitled to certain additional procedures whenever school authorities intend to implement a disciplinary change in placement. This Code of Conduct affords these students who are subject to disciplinary action no greater or lesser rights than those expressly afforded by applicable Federal and State law and regulations.

Interim Alternative Educational Setting.

When the conduct of a student with disabilities is determined to violate the Code of Conduct and to be caused by or have a direct and substantial relationship to the student's disability or was the direct result of the district's failure to implement the student's individualized education program, the Superintendent has the authority to suspend or remove students with disabilities to interim alternative educational settings (located within or outside of the district) for a period of up to 45 days for offenses relating to illegal drugs, controlled substances, weapons or offenses that inflicted serious bodily injury upon another person. The Superintendent may order the placement of a student with a disability in an interim setting if the student carries or possesses a weapon at school or at a school function, or the student knowingly possesses or uses illegal drugs or sells or solicits the sale of a controlled substance while at school or a school function or the student's conduct causes serious bodily injury to another person while at school or a school function. In instances when school personnel determine that it is dangerous for a student with a disability to remain in their current educational placement, school officials can request an expedited impartial due process hearing to remove the student to an interim setting. When the conduct of a student with disabilities is found to violate the Code of Conduct but is not determined to be caused by or have a direct and substantial relationship to the student's disability or was not the direct result of the district's failure to implement the student's individualized education program, school officials may implement the same consequences that would be implemented if the student was not a student with a disability.

Disciplinary Change of Placement.

A disciplinary change of placement is a suspension or removal of a student with a disability from their educational placement for more than ten consecutive days, or for a period that adds up to more than ten cumulative school days in a given school year considering such factors as the length of each suspension or removal, the total amount of time the student is removed, and the proximity of the suspensions or removals to one another. A determination of whether there is a relationship between the student's disability and the behavior that is subject to the disciplinary action must be made by the Committee on Special Education when school officials seek to implement a suspension or removal that constitutes a disciplinary change of placement. The Committee on Special Education is not required to make this determination for suspensions or removals of ten days or less in the school year.

Committee on Special Education.

The procedures relating to the discipline of students with disabilities require school personnel with authority to suspend or remove students to work closely with the Committee on Special Education to ensure clear communication and decision making on disciplinary matters. The district's Committee on Special Education has responsibilities to determine whether there is a relationship between the student's disability and the behavior that is subject to the disciplinary action, to conduct behavioral assessments, as well as to develop or review behavioral intervention plans whenever suspending or removing a student with a disability for more than 10 school days in a given school year.

VIII. Corporal Punishment

Corporal punishment is any act of physical force upon a student for the purpose of punishing that student. Corporal punishment of any student by any school personnel is strictly forbidden.

In situations in which alternative procedures and methods not involving the use of physical force cannot reasonably be employed, the prohibition against corporal punishment does not bar the use of reasonable physical force to:

- Protect oneself, another student, teacher, or any person from physical injury.
- Protect the property of the school or others.

- Restrain or remove a student whose behavior significantly interferes or poses a threat with the orderly exercise and performance of school district functions, powers and duties, if that student has refused to refrain from further disruptive acts.

Any complaint about the use of corporal punishment shall be reported to the principal/director. The complaint will be communicated immediately to the Superintendent (or designee) who shall investigate the complaint to determine whether an incident actually took place and, if so, shall determine the appropriate response and advise all affected parties. Results of this investigation will be forwarded to the Superintendent. If the complainant or reporter is dissatisfied with the resolution of the complaint at that stage, an appeal can be made to the Superintendent. If still dissatisfied, further appeal can be made, in writing, to the White Plains Board of Education. The district shall file all complaints about the use of corporal punishment with the Commissioner of Education in accordance with Commissioner's Regulations.

Inappropriate Punishment.

While several other forms of inappropriate punishment directed toward a student are not defined as corporal punishment (e.g., verbal abuse and public humiliation), they shall not be tolerated. It is understood that any act of punishment toward a given student must be carried out by school personnel in a manner that is respectful and dignified.

X. Student Searches and Interrogations

Any principal/director (or designee) authorized to implement a disciplinary consequence on a student may question a student about an alleged violation of law, or any provision in the district's Code of Conduct. Students are not entitled to any sort of due process type warning before being questioned by school officials, nor are school officials required to contact a student's parent before questioning the student.

Before searching a student or the student's belongings, the authorized school official will ask the student whether they possess the suspected items or will voluntarily consent to the search. Searches will be limited to the extent necessary to locate the evidence sought.

The Board of Education authorizes the Superintendent and building administrators to conduct searches of students and their belongings, when necessary, if the authorized school official has reasonable suspicion to believe that the search will result in evidence that the student violated the law or the district Code of Conduct. District security officials are authorized to conduct searches of students and their belongings only in cases of imminent danger.

Whenever possible, searches will be conducted in the privacy of administrative offices and students will be present whenever their possessions are being searched. The district will also make every effort to have another school employee present for all searches to serve as a witness. The authorized school official conducting the search is responsible for recording pertinent information about the search.

A. Student lockers, desks and other school storage places

The rules in this Code of Conduct regarding searches of students and their belongings do not apply to student lockers, desks, and other school storage places. Students have no reasonable expectation of privacy with respect to these places, and school officials retain complete control over them. This means that student lockers, desks, and other school storage places may be subject to search at any time by school officials, without prior notice to students and without their consent.

B. District computers, computer network system, and internet access

Users of the district's computer network, including but not limited to students and/or school personnel, shall have no reasonable expectation of privacy in electronic mail, documents created or stored on district computers or other technology equipment or in their use of the internet. The district may monitor, access and/or view any emails, files or materials created using, stored in or transmitted through the district's computer network or the district's equipment (such as computers, iPads, PDAs, Chromebooks or the like), or any records or information concerning a user's internet access (such as websites accessed, etc.), without prior notice to users of the district's computer network (including but not limited to students) and without their consent.

C. Strip searches

Under this Code of Conduct, school personnel are not allowed to conduct a strip search (defined as a search that requires a student to remove any or all of their clothing, other than footwear or an outer garment such as a coat, jacket, or sweater).

D. Police involvement in searches and interrogations of students

Police officials have authority to interview or search students in schools or at school functions, or to use school facilities in connection with police work in accordance with New York State and Federal Law. Where possible, police will confer with school officials before exercising such authority. Except in an emergency, police officials will not question or search any student on school grounds without the permission of the parents/guardians.

E. Child Protective Services Investigations

The district will cooperate with local Child Protective Services workers who wish to conduct interviews of students on school property relating to allegations of suspected child abuse, and/or neglect, or custody investigations.

All requests by Child Protective Services to interview a student on school property shall be made directly to the principal/director (or designee). The administrator shall set the time and place of the interview and shall decide if it is necessary and appropriate for a school official to be present during the interview, depending on the age of the student being interviewed and the nature of the allegations.

A Child Protective Services worker may not remove a student from school property without a court order, unless the worker reasonably believes that the student would be subject to danger if he or she were not removed from school before a court order can reasonably be obtained. If the worker believes the student would be subject to danger, the worker may remove the student without a court order and without the parent's/guardian's consent. Notice must be given by the worker to the principal/director (or designee) who in turn would immediately advise central administration of the situation.

X. Public Conduct on School Property

A. Visitors/Parents/Guardians

The Board of Education welcomes and encourages the community to visit the district's schools and classrooms to observe the work of students, teachers, and other staff. Since schools are places of work and learning, however, certain limits must be set for such visits. The principal/director (or designee) is responsible for all persons in the building and on the grounds. For these reasons, the following rules apply to visitors in the schools:

- All visitors to a school must report to the main office or visitor's registration desk upon arrival at the school.
- All visitors will be required to sign a visitor's register and will be issued a visitor's identification badge which must be worn at all times while in the school or on school grounds. If it is not a disposable badge, it must be returned to the office before leaving the building.
- Visitors who attend school functions that are open to the public, such as PTA meetings, athletic events, or special events, are not required to register.
- Parents/guardians who wish to observe their child's classroom while school is in session are required to arrange such visits in advance with the classroom teacher so that class disruption is kept to a minimum. (Teachers cannot use class time to discuss individual matters with visitors.)
- Other community members who wish to tour our schools must call the district's Family Information Center to set up an appointment.

B. Public conduct

For purposes of this section of the Code of Conduct, “public” shall mean all persons when on school property or attending school functions, including but not limited to school personnel, parents/guardians and visitors.

The restrictions on public conduct on school property and at school functions contained in this Code of Conduct are not intended to limit freedom of speech or peaceful assembly. The district recognizes that free inquiry and free expression are indispensable to the objectives of the district. However, the purpose of this Code of Conduct is to maintain public order and prevent abuse of the rights of others. All persons on school property or attending a school function must conduct themselves in a respectful and orderly manner.

No person alone or with others shall:

- Engage in threatening, potentially dangerous, or unlawful behavior (including gambling).
- Intentionally damage or destroy school district or personal property, including graffiti or arson.
- Engage in any behavior that is disruptive to the orderly operation of classes, school programs, or other school activities.
- Violate the traffic laws, parking regulations, or other restrictions on vehicles.
- Intimidate or harass others.
- Discriminate against any person on the basis of actual or perceived race, color, creed, national origin, religion, age, gender, sex, sexual orientation, medical condition, weight, religious practice, ethnic group or disability.
- Refuse to comply with reasonable orders of identifiable safety authorities (including security staff and traffic crossing guards) in the performance of their duties.
- Smoke.
- Possess, consume, or sell alcoholic beverages or illegal substances.

C. Consequences

The purpose of this in-service education is to promote a safe and supportive school climate while discouraging, among other things, discrimination and/or harassment against students and/or school employees and to guide school personnel on the inclusion of safe and

The Board of Education will review this Code of Conduct every year and update it as necessary. In conducting the review, the Board will consider how effective the Code of Conduct's provisions have been and whether the Code of Conduct has been applied fairly and consistently. The Board will consult with the school community and other interested parties about changes and amendments.

Before adopting any revisions to the Code of Conduct, the Board of Education will hold at least one public hearing at which school personnel, parents/guardians, students and any other interested party may participate. The Code of Conduct and any amendments to it will be filed with the Commissioner no later than 30 days after adoption.
