- Work with district administration and teaching staff to support media software/hardware needs in classrooms and presentation facilities. Purchase all media equipment loaned to staff on a short-term basis. Advise staff and administration in purchasing decisions for hardware/software owned by departments outside of library/media center.
- Purchase and update video DVD collection. Work with all departments to purchase video programming to support educational curricula.
- Develop, purchase and support audio CD collection. Work with all departments to add to collection based on request and instructional requirements.
- Purchase, preview, and support audio book collection.
- Work with district purchasing department to update bid list based on annual equipment hardware/software purchasing requirements.
- Approve all library media center purchasing through district Finance Manager application.

Maintenance:

- Maintain equipment reservation system for all AV and technical equipment distributed by high school library media center to faculty and staff throughout district.
- Track and maintain equipment usages records.
- Perform minor maintenance on AV hardware and software.
- Document repair needs for all library/media center hardware and software. Coordinate repair of long-term loan equipment (housed for the year in classrooms and offices) with district AV technician and staff.
- Review outside vendor repair estimates and approve expenditures depending on type of equipment, age, reliability, and budget constraints.
- Coordinate repair of high school computer equipment located in media center by trouble-shooting, documenting, and acting as liaison with district technology specialist and BOCES network technicians.
- Maintain and update library of AV equipment documentation to diagnose and repair equipment purchased by library/media center.

Library Floor and Study Supervisor – Proactive Literacy Leader:

Spend one-half of each school day supervising students using library as a study hall and research center. Offer hands-on assistance as necessary to all library patrons with technical/PC questions, research questions, print collection needs, and Follett Destiny library system business. Maintain conducive learning environment and monitor students to attain respectful student library behavior. Review and generate student passes based on timeliness and validity. Alternate class periods with the other high school librarian (when there is one) to share and equally divide this daily part of the job. Since there is no longer a Media Aide (position removed in 2008) and our Teaching Assistant positions have been reduced to one part-time employee (formerly two full-time employees), this job responsibility has to be performed simultaneously with all other elements of the job as described above. In other words, due to severe staff reduction and resulting increased job responsibilities, this job – done successfully – requires working in at least two locations at the same time throughout much of the school day.

- Address discipline problems by sending students to their house administrators, removing them from use of our computers if they violate established rules and procedures, and calling security if fights occur or behavior becomes a danger to staff and students.
- Work to clear library of students at end of each class period. Stand at library entrance at beginning of each class period to enforce line-up of entering students, review passes, assign research class students to correct location (computer room, etc.), and maintain a quiet hallway/entrance prior to the beginning of the class period.
- Work with library staff to “read shelves” and perform full printed materials inventory on a regular basis at end of academic year.
- Weed print collection as well as AV hardware and software to maintain pertinent and useful collection of instructional courseware.
- Maintain orderly and accurate shelving per Dewey decimal system.
- Duplicate and forward documents by request to extended user community.
- Maintain hands-on thorough understanding of Follett Destiny library system to check out/renew books, locate resources, and to resolve overdue/fine/replacement issues.
- Work with all patrons to access and understand our collection, and generate reports as required.
